Katz Group wants Halloween arena deadline

► Company issues statement to explain why agreement needed by Oct. 31 ► Councillors stand firm, disagree with some demands

@METRONEWS.CA

It's too late for the Edmonton Oilers to have a new downtown arena for 2014, and having one by 2015 is in jeopardy too, the Katz Group says.

A statement issued Thursday by executive vice-president John Karvellas says the company needs to make a "very significant investment by no later than Oct. 31, 2011, to keep the project alive."

Since purchase rights for the land on 104 Avenue expire on Halloween and the Oilers' lease at Rexall Place is up in less than 33 months, a firm agreement from the city is needed by the end of next month, the statement says.

"These and other factors create an unavoidable urgency to get something done," it reads.

Coun. Bryan Anderson says it makes sense for the city to buy the land, since the cost is likely to rise. But he doesn't feel pressured by the deadline for a final deal.

"I just don't think that it can be done," he said. "(The lease is) going to have to be extended."

Northlands, the operator of Rexall Place, "would be more than willing" to extend the team's lease at Rexall beyond 2014, spokesperson Cathy Kiss said.

Karvellas acknowledged there is a $100-million funding gap and that a non-compete agreement from Northlands has yet to be resolved. But he said the non-compete is the city's responsi-

Money trail

- The land slated for the arena will cost $20 million to $25 million.
- The Katz Group says it has already spent more than $25 million on the project.
- It's proposed that the $450-million project be funded with $100 million from Daryl Katz, $125 million from a ticket tax, $125 million from the city and $100 million from the province.
- The province has not yet agreed to contribute funding.

bility to negotiate.

"It's not our place," Coun. Tony Caterina said. "This just gets more ridiculous every time comments are made."

Business in the dark on closure

The company behind an Alberta weight-loss franchise that suddenly closed six locations, two in Edmonton, has issued a statement and some help to those affected.

In a statement sent to CTV News, L.A. Weight Loss said owners Steve McDonough and Ann Marie Vaillancourt closed their doors without properly notifying L.A. Weight Loss of their intent.

The franchisor also provided contact information for client complaints about contracts, refunds or products, stating they should call 403-819-6561, 403-660-2654 or 403-245-6601, or email lawlho@telus.net or cowtown100@gmail.com.

Liberals fast-track party rules

Alberta's Liberals are fast-tracking their candidate nominations in case of a snap fall election.

Party leader Raj Sherman says the current nomination process will be compressed from two months to two weeks. And voting will be open to non-paying party supporters — just like in the recent leadership contest.

The party will be announcing new nominees in the coming weeks.

► This hole in the NAIT campus will make a lot of students with cars happier next fall, when it opens up nearly 1,000 parking spots in a parkade now under construction.

$24M parkade to curb space crunch at NAIT

- School to roll out 986 new spots in main campus garage next fall
- Ground broken on three-level space primarily for student vehicles

SHELLEY WILLIAMSON
@METRONWS.CA

Students at NAIT have relief in sight for their parking pains with a 986-spot parkade set to open at the main campus next fall.

"We acknowledge student parking is a problem on the main campus, and this will help relieve the strain on the community," said Frank Landry, spokesperson for NAIT.

Prices have not been determined for the spots, which will be leased by monthly permit.

The site is on the former "M Building," which was constructed in 1955 and demolished to make way for the parkade at 118 Avenue and 103 Street this summer.

"That marked one of NAIT's complete demolitions in its history," said Landry.

Programs formerly housed in the aging space have found new homes elsewhere.

This will mark the campus' second parkade, but the existing four-storey lot is primarily for staff.

Though the LRT is on track to reach NAIT eventually, Landry said it's unrealistic to assume people will completely abandon vehicles for transit.

"We are looking forward to the LRT in 2014, and some people will want to take LRT, but there are always those that prefer to drive," he said.

Parking plan

- NAIT is borrowing the cash to front the $24-million parkade, which will also be open for after-hours use by the public on a cost-recovery basis.
- There are currently 4,000 spots for parking on campus, a little over half of which are designated for students.
- This fall NAIT will lease 300 stalls on the Indy parking lot

What will you remember most about Ed Stelmach?Jacqueline Stone, 40

"I associate Ed Stelmach with support from the rural communities. He was an adequate leader, but he wasn't groundbreaking in any way."

Edward Iwaskow, 70

"He has been an OK leader. But now it depends who they get in next. Let's give the ladies a chance, maybe they can do things better."

Rick James, 25

Ed Stelmach? I don't remember anything about him, or what he said or what he looked like. If I don't know him, I guess I can't miss him.

Stelmach's peak: Trade pact

- ▶ Ed Stelmach bowing out after five tumultuous years
- ▶ He remains premier until a replacement is sworn in

Ed Stelmach charted his province through the peaks of an overheated economy and troughs of a global recession, but says his high point came when he put ink to paper to erase a historical injustice.

It was April 30, 2010, and the premiers of Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan met to sign off on the largest free-trade zone in Canada, representing 90 per cent of its oil and gas wealth.

Stelmach says he choked up when the New West Partnership was signed on Frederick Haultain's desk at Government House in Regina.

"I was overwhelmed with emotion," Stelmach said in an interview.

"I just said (to myself), 'Man, could you imagine Premier Haultain looking down?" He must have said, "We got it done, finally."

Stelmach is set to tender his resignation this weekend when members of the Progressive Conservative party vote Saturday to name his replacement as party leader and premier. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Next up ...

Sincere, principled, honest and focused — words Chaldeans Mensah, political scientist at Grant MacEwan University, used to describe outgoing Premier Ed Stelmach. But he also described Stelmach as a poor communicator with an inability to connect with the public.

Despite the contrast, his reign coming to an end leaves the party at a crossroads, said Mensah.

He said if there isn't a strong win for Gary Mar, a late-momentum upset from Alison Redford could leave the PCs in a position of rebuilding and, in the longer term, open the door for a challenge from the Wildrose party.

Making a stitch on time

► U of A quilting exhibit focuses on recycling textiles in past and present
► Designer fashioned found fabrics into unique wearable art

SHELLEY WILLIAMSON
@METRONEWS.CA

University of Alberta ecology student Lauren MacDonald wants people to see her patchwork garments and think twice about giving their own wardrobes a second chance.

The fourth-year student said she was inspired to create a ladies' couture jacket and three skirts from swatches of discarded fabric sample books, Goodwill clothing, bed sheets and a man's dress shirt, while studying the Great Depression for a class project.

"I was interested by the way people were forced to reuse things, like packaging," said MacDonald, who took a break from her design line to study human ecology. "Textiles were more expensive, so garments might have been used again, say, for stuffing a chair."

She said the hardest part was actually piecing together her wares, now on display in the Waste Not, Want Not: Creating Through Recycling exhibit in the U of A's human ecology building.

Vlada Blinova, collection manager and MacDonald's adviser on the project, said the student's couture creations mesh well with the accompanying quilts from the Rosenberg collection.

"One of the pieces that was an inspiration was a

Old made new

The exhibit runs until March 12 in the U of A human ecology building lobby, 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays, and noon to 4 p.m. Sundays.

► On Oct. 6, a "garage sale" of vintage fabrics and sewing notions will be open to the public next to the exhibit, from 4:30 to 6 p.m.

quilt made from men's suits placed together," said Blinova.

MacDonald's pieces strive to show how recycling and quilt-making are related.

► The Rosenberg quilt collection, which contains pieces from all over the world, many from the Depression era, was acquired by the university in 2006 and contains 677 quilts.

► Depression-era textiles included anything available, from flower sacks and men's clothing to underwear and house dresses, often getting a second, third and even fourth life.

"I don't know (if) people would know they were recycled," said MacDonald. "I sort of learned how different materials could be recycled in different, beautiful ways."

It may have been the most stressful 48 hours of their lives, which is why the winners of the first

Great Canadian Appathon will be on hand as competitors embark on projects for the next one.

A four-man Edmonton team of post-secondary students, now expanded to six, beat 100 others nationwide in the event put on by XMG Studio Inc. back in April with the mobile video game Super Punch.

They have since turned the $25,000 prize into a company called Bit Shift. "We had a great time with it," said Pieter Parker.

"It feels pretty surreal that we were able to get it in and win."

The game features a superhero punching his arch-nemesis.

"Essentially you want to deliver the most epic blow that you can," said Parker.

The app was created for the Windows Phone 7, and should be on the market in the next couple of months, said Sean Koppen.

It's that success, along with the fact they spent two days in a St. Albert basement, that led them to partner with NAIT.

They now have a regional hub here for this year's second appathon.

A total of eight local teams have registered and will work around the clock. They will sleep when they can, from 5 p.m. Friday to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Bit Shift team will chat with and support the participants.

"We want to put ourselves through the wringer again," said Koppen.

"We want to come up with a couple new ideas."

CDI College Host Charity Pizza Challenge in Downtown Edmonton

Edmonton City Centre campus staff and faculty to sell pizza for a good cause

Leave your lunches at home on September 30, 2011 and pitch in to support a great cause. CDI College Edmonton City Centre campus staff and faculty will be selling Papa John's pizzas in an Apprentice-style competition from 11:30am to 1:00pm in the downtown core.

Five separate teams will compete to see who can raise the most money for their individual charities. At the end of the day, cheques will be presented to Edmonton's Youth Emergency Shelter, Boys & Girls Clubs Big Brothers Big Sisters of Edmonton, Edmonton Humane Society, Habitat for Humanity, and the Stollery Children's Hospital.

"This is our first year hosting an Apprentice-style charity event, so we're excited to get our campus involved with the community and support these great causes," says CDI College Edmonton City Centre campus director Kyle Ferbey. "In addition to helping the community we live and work in, this event is a great opportunity to demonstrate to our students the benefits of helping those less fortunate."

The staff and faculty members will compete against each other to sell as many pizzas as they can, for as much as they can, utilizing whatever creative selling strategy they can come up with. Each team will be stationed at various locations around downtown Edmonton, hoping to convince downtown workers, residents, businesses, and visitors to buy a pizza for charity.

Teams will also be encouraged to take to social media to spread the word about their challenge. At the end of the day, the team who has gotten the most buzz on Facebook and Twitter will be awarded an additional $500 to present to their charity.

Teams:

- CDI Team LLL will be fundraising for the Youth Emergency Shelter outside the Citytv building at 102 St & Jasper Ave
- CDI Team Seedy Eyes will be fundraising for the Boys & Girls Clubs Big Brothers Big Sisters of Edmonton outside Scotia Place at 99 St & Jasper Ave
- CDI Team Bulbits will be fundraising for the Edmonton Humane Society at the south end of City Hall at 99 St & 102A Ave
- CDI Team Rooftoppers will be fundraising for Habitat for Humanity outside Commerce Place at 101 St & Jasper Ave
- CDI Team NRJ3=MC2 will be fundraising for Stollery Children's Hospital at the south end of Sir Winston Churchill Square at 99 St & 102 Ave

Review slated for aboriginal communities in heart of oilsands

The Alberta government says it will review the health of two aboriginal communities deep in the heart of the oilsands region.

The Fort McKay First Nation and the Fort McKay Metis Nation are downriver from Fort McMurray.

The communities are surrounded by more than a dozen oilsands projects.

The government says it will be up to the people in the communities to decide what the review will focus on, how it will work and when it will begin.

Heat is on for barista at coffee competition

SHELLEY WILLIAMSON

Ben put may be asking his boss for a raise soon.

The Transcend Coffee employee heads to Vancouver for the national Barista Championships this weekend, and he may just come back Canada's best coffee wrangler.

He was first in the Prairie finals and figures he has a good shot nationally. "I placed second last year," said Put, a barista for seven years.

But the winner in the coveted contest, which sees baristas create 12 drinks in 15 minutes, he admits, is a matter of taste.

"It really comes down to that day. If your coffee doesn't taste good, there's nothing you can do," said Put.

He will have the drive with fellow finalist Josh Hockin to mull strategy.

only among his competitors, they're also friends.

"The barista community is so small," said Put. "It's a friendly rivalry."

If he takes the title, it will be a provincial first.

"No one from outside B.C. has ever won," he said.

In addition to bragging rights, winning buys a spot in the World Championships in Vienna.

The winner of that is as much of a superstar as coffee circles know.

"For the next year, the champion gets to tour the world," he said.

Edmonton's traffic lights are on par

Despite Mayor Stephen Mandel's concerns, a city report released Thursday shows Edmonton is comparable to other similarly sized cities in Canada when it comes to the number of traffic signals.

Edmonton has 0.91 per 1,000 population, in comparison with 1.19 in Ottawa, 0.95 in Winnipeg, 0.89 in Hamilton and 0.88 in Calgary.

Mandel expressed anger in July about a traffic light at almost every block along 103A and 104 avenues between Jasper Avenue and 124 Street.

Deadly storm goes easy on China

► Typhoon Nesat does minimal damage ► Hong Kong sees wild weather but not directly hit

A powerful typhoon that forced hundreds of thousands of people from their homes on an island in southern China appeared to have caused little damage Friday and was sweeping away from the country toward Vietnam.

Typhoon Nesat was expected to make landfall in Vietnam late Friday or early Saturday, after flooding streets on China's Hainan island on Thursday. Hainan authorities had plenty of time to prepare for the storm as it churned across the South China Sea from the Philippines, where it killed at least 43 people and left 30 missing earlier in the week.

Authorities evacuated 300,000 people, cancelled flights, closed schools, suspended ferry services and recalled fishing boats as the storm approached, and the preparations appeared to have paid off with little

Cities shut down

- Flood-control officials said nearly 58,000 people were evacuated from low-lying areas in eastern Wenchang city and 67 flights were cancelled at the island's two airports, Xinhua said.

damage reported on the island.

In the Philippines, more than 160,000 people were still in evacuation centres Friday, three days after Nesat tore a path across the country's main island and triggered some of the worst flooding in the capital in decades.

Rescuing species from the brink

ALL PHOTOS USFWS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► Among the animals and plants on the Obama administration's radar are, from left, the Casey's June beetle, the Pagosa skyrocket plant and the Texas kangaroo rat.

The Obama administration is taking steps to extend new federal protections to a list of imperiled animals and plants that reads like a manifest for Noah's Ark — from the melodic golden-winged warbler and slow-moving gopher tortoise, to the slimy American eel and tiny Texas kangaroo rat.

Compelled by a pair of recent legal settlements, the effort in part targets species that have been mired in bureaucratic limbo even as they inch toward potential extinction.

With a Friday deadline to act on more than 700 pending cases, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service already has issued decisions advancing more than 500 species toward potential new protections under the Endangered Species Act.

Observers said the agency's actions mark a breakthrough for a program long criticized by conservatives and liberals alike as cumbersome and slow.

"Here at a single glance, you see the sweep of the Endangered Species Act," said Patrick Parenteau, an environmental law professor at the University of Vermont. "They are moving through this large backlog at a fairly crisp clip now. This is the largest number of listing actions we've seen in a very long time, in decades."

Also among species that advanced for further consideration are 35 snails from Nevada's Great Basin, 82 crawfish from the Southeast, 99 Hawaiian plants and a motley cast of butterflies, birds, fish, beetles, frogs, lizards, mussels and more from every corner of the country.

Some have languished for decades on a "candidate list" of species the government says warrant protection but that it lacks the resources to help.

The flurry of recent action could help revive Obama's standing among wildlife advocates upset over the administration's support for taking grey wolves off the endangered list in the Northern Rockies and Upper Great Lakes, among other issues.

But it also comes amid a backlash in Congress against the 37-year-old endangered-species program.

12 Most of the decisions made under the current settlements are preliminary. So far only 12 new animals and plants have reached the final step and been added to the almost 1,400 species on the government's threatened and endangered list.

Earlier this year, citing restrictions against development and other activities, Republicans unsuccessfully sought to strip the federal budget of money to list new species as threatened or endangered.

Tweets offer glimpse into mood patterns

Twitter confirms it: People tend to wake up in a good mood and are happiest on weekends.

The fast-paced forum is offering scientists a peek at real-time, presumably little-filtered human behaviour and thoughts. Cornell University researchers turned to the microblog to study mood and found a pretty consistent pattern.

The researchers analyzed English-language tweets from 2.4 million people in 84 countries, more than 500 million of the brief, conversation-like exchanges sent over two years. They used a computer program that searched for words indicating positive mood — happy, enthusiastic, brilliant — or negative mood — sad, anxious, fear.

What they found: Unless you're a night owl, a positive attitude peaks early in the morning and again near midnight, but starts to dip midmorning before rising again in the evening.

Aha, you might think, going to work and related hassles like traffic explain that pattern. After all, there was more positive tweeting on the weekend.

Twitter tales

► The researchers also examined tweets in the United Arab Emirates, where Friday and Saturday are considered the weekend. Sure enough, they found the same daily pattern, even though the workday tends to begin earlier there than in the West, and the same weekend pattern.

► There are cautions about studying Twitter postings: Their authors tend to be younger, and may be more affluent and better educated than average.

Work-related stress may play some role but it can't explain why that same mid-day dip occurs on the weekend, too, said lead researcher Scott Golder, a Cornell graduate student.

Instead, the pattern probably is due to the effects of sleep and our 24-hour biological clock, the so-called circadian rhythms that signal when it's time to sleep and to wake, Golder and Cornell sociologist Michael Macy reported. Their study appears in Friday's edition of the journal Science.

PM defends MacKay's Challenger flights

► Harper says defence minister's use of jets justified since intent was to meet with families of fallen soldiers

Prime Minister Stephen Harper has stood up for his embattled defence minister.

Peter MacKay was under fire once again Thursday in the House of Commons over his use of Challenger VIP jets, racking up as much as $3 million in flights since he was appointed in 2007.

He's been criticized over the last couple of weeks for his use of a search-and-rescue helicopter to pick him up at a Newfoundland fishing lodge following a vacation.

New Democrats say the high-flying minister should have his wings clipped.

Harper, who had been silent about the controversy, said MacKay has used the jet 70 per cent less than his Liberal predecessors and "half the time he does that for repatriation ceremonies" in Trenton for fallen soldiers.

"He goes there to show that we understand their sacrifice, we share their pain and we care about them and that's why the minister of defence is so highly regarded," Harper told the House of Commons during question period.

But NDP defence critic Jack Harris scoffed at the explanation and said MacKay used the jet to attend government announcements, rather than flying commercial as other cabinet ministers do.

Meanwhile, the ethics commissioner told a parliamentary committee Thursday that MacKay could be in contravention of MPs' conflict-of-interest code because of where he spent his vacation.

The Newfoundland trip was partly spent at a fishing camp owned by the chairman of a Crown corporation.

Under questioning from the Liberals, Mary Dawson told an all-party committee some rules may have been broken.

Bottled messages bring world home

► Casting out messages in bottles is not a social experiment for Harold Hackett ► It's a dear hobby

Underneath his bed, stored in shoeboxes or tucked away into drawers in his Tignish, P.E.I., apartment are Harold Hackett's portals to other lands.

There are bags of home-made Newfoundland candy, seashore glass from the Bahamas, and an estimated 14,000 photos of children, boats, pets, and homes.

But most importantly, there are the letters.

"I've got something like 3,300 back so far," Hackett says proudly. "From all over the world."

Around P.E.I. and increasingly around the globe, Hackett has become known as "Message in a Bottle Man" — the one

"I put this bottle in the ocean from North Cape, P.E.I. When you find my message, please write back to me so I know where my bottle went. Please be sure to include the date on the bottle message in your letter and the date you found it. This is very important to me."

A FORM LETTER BY HAROLD HACKETT

who has set 5,000 bottled messages adrift into the Atlantic, one by one, just to see where they'll go.

To maintain that kind of volume, he's abandoned handwritten notes. He sends out form letters photocopied in one of six colours, leaving a blank space to print the date he sent it, and another for the recipient to record the date it was found.

The 59-year-old bachelor doesn't own a computer and spends much of his time at home on disability, due to a curvature in his spine. But through notes and packages sent from Africa, Ireland, South America, Russia, Germany, and more, Hackett has brought the world to him.

▶ U.S. ponders ramping up security on border with fences and other barriers

The Opposition is blasting a "stupid" U.S. government proposal to build fences along the border with Canada to help keep out terrorists and other criminals.

said Joe Comartin, the New Democrat justice critic. "When you get their security agencies just going off on this kind of a tangent ... well, quite frankly, it just makes me angry."

The U.S. Customs and Border Protection agency has proposed the use of "fencing and other barriers" on the 49th parallel to manage "trouble spots where passage of cross-border violators is difficult to control."

The border service is also pondering options including a beefed-up technological presence through increased use of radar, sensors, cameras, drones and vehicle scanners. In addition, it might continue to improve or expand customs facilities at ports of entry. THE CANADIAN PRESS

U.S. court tosses lawsuit

A U.S. federal appeals court refused Thursday to decide the constitutionality of the military's now-repealed "don't ask, don't tell" policy banning openly gay troops, saying the issue has been resolved since Americans can enlist and serve in the armed forces without regard to sexual orientation.

A three-judge panel of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco tossed out a lawsuit that had challenged the military policy as a violation of gay service members' civil rights.

In doing so, the appeals court also dismissed a Southern California trial judge's year-old ruling that the policy was unconstitutional.

The gay-rights group Log Cabin Republicans filed the lawsuit in 2004 challenging the policy. The group recently argued the "don't ask, don't tell" should remain in effect because future administrations and lawmakers could reintroduce a ban on gay service.

The panel specifically rejected Log Cabins' assertion that the appeals court should decide the underlying constitutional issues to prevent future limitations or outright bans on military service by gay and lesbian Americans.

Stars woo fans via online games

- Social media the way to interact with fans: Iglesias
- Popular Cityville has 71-million users on Facebook

Pop stars are lining up to make their debut in Facebook games from online game maker Zynga.

First came Dr. Dre and Lady Gaga. Next week, an avatar of singer Enrique Iglesias will join CityVille, Zynga's most popular title.

Starting Tuesday, CityVille players on Facebook will be able to interact with Iglesias's character when he visits their cities. They'll get to collect items the singer is known for and watch previews of his latest music video.

Zynga declined to give financial terms of the deal or say whether it plans more celebrity integrations, citing the fact that it is in a typical "quiet period" before its planned initial public offering. The San Francisco-based company filed registration papers in July for an IPO, and it's expected to make its public debut this fall.

Iglesias said his team approached Zynga with the idea for a game integration and was involved from the beginning on the design and deciding what characters could do. They can collect virtual hats, boots, bling and a speed boat — representing the time Iglesias lived in Miami and owned one.

CityVille, which is available on Facebook and the fledgling Google Plus, lets players build up and run virtual cities complete with farms, buildings and other infrastructure found in a real city. The game is free to play; Zynga makes money by charging for virtual items players use to decorate their cities and to get ahead in the game. The Iglesias tie-in will be available only on the Facebook version of the game.

"It's the first time Zynga has had such an entertainer being an integral part of the game," said Scott Koenigsberg, director of business strategy for CityVille at Zynga.

Supreme Court to hear signal case

The Supreme Court of Canada says it will step into the battle over whether broadcasters can charge cable and satellite providers for carrying their programs.

The high court has granted leave to appeal in a case that involves whether the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission has the right to establish a system that would allow broadcasters to charge for their signals.

The CRTC itself referred the matter to the Federal Court when it announced its plans for a so-called "value-for-signal" regime.

Canadians wary of job market

The Conference Board of Canada says its index of consumer confidence increased only slightly in September as Canadians began to worry more about job growth.

The think-tank said Thursday its consumer confidence index rose 0.3 of a point in September to 75, narrowly avoiding a fifth consecutive monthly decline.

Economists have warned in recent weeks that the global economic outlook is not good and that government debt problems in Europe and the U.S. could trigger another recession, undercutting employment.

The survey found that attitudes towards the job market have deteriorated. Only 14.8 per cent of respondents said they expect there will be more jobs in the next six months, a drop of 1.4 percentage points from August. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Privacy on Facebook challenged, again

Nine privacy groups have sent a joint letter to the U.S. Federal Trade Commission saying it should investigate the ways Facebook collects data about users' online activity after recent changes to its site.

The Electronic Privacy Information Center, the American Civil Liberties

Union and other groups sent the letter to the FTC Wednesday.

The groups say changes Facebook made last week give it far greater ability to disclose users' personal information to businesses.

Facebook users can now consent just once and have applications continuously sharing on Facebook the music they are listening to or the articles they are reading. Facebook says that change gives users control over what apps they use and what information is shared. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nokia trims workforce

► Cellphone maker lays off 3,500 workers ► Will close Romania plant

Nokia Corp. on Thursday announced further job cuts by 2012 as it strives to save costs while its global market share continues to fall in competition against rivals. It will also close a manufacturing plant in Cluj, Romania, by the end of 2011. The planned layoffs are in addition to 7,000 worldwide job cuts, which Nokia announced in April. Nokia stock was virtually unchanged at €4.15 in early trading in Helsinki.

Nokia seeks to cut operating expenses by €1 billion by 2013 amid fierce competition in the top-end smartphone market from Apple Inc., Research In Motion and Google Inc., as well as from numerous Asian handset makers that produce cheaper phones in emerging markets.

seen in a bar, wearing white pants and air-guitaring while holding a beer. Now people are split as to whether this photo was Photoshopped or not. Let's see Don Cherry's shirtless beer-air-guitar moves!

2 Rathika Sitsabaiesan cleavage: Still with Photoshop, Ontario NDP MP Rathika Sitsabaiesan attracted international attention this week when it was revealed on the website Contrarian.ca that her (by no means risqué amount of) cleavage was Photoshopped out of an image that appears on her page on the Parliament of Canada website. Wow, talk about political correctness.

3 B.C. Place reno: The $563-million reno'd retractable B.C. 4 The Leap: Calgary's Chris Turner, author of the 2007 national bestseller The Geography of Hope, has a new book out this week. I'm sorry to say that while reading your Sept. 29 issue, I was shocked to find an example of cultural insensitivity.

I'm not referring to any of the articles, but rather to your Metropolitan Panel feature. In the poll shown, you asked your readers, and I quote, "Should obese women be denied fertility treatment?" Are you not aware how blatantly offensive that question is? If it isn't so obvious, consider a similar question: "Should gay women be denied fertility treatment?" Or what about "Should East-Asian women be denied fertility treatment?" On what basis do you justify such discrimination? What right have you to decide who gets fertility treatment and who does not? You have no such right. Any person's decision to seek fertility treatment should be left to them and them alone.

Any potential health problems that may arise during pregnancy as a result of conditions associated with obesity are also none of your business. The only people who ought to be involved are the person and their supervising physician.

Now, 12 years after Marty Stevens rescued him from being put to sleep because of his condition, the exotic blue-eyed rag-doll cat is not only thriving but has made it into the 2012 Guinness Book of World Records as the longest-surviving member of a group known as Janus cats, named for a Roman god with two faces.

He is "very, very laid back, not afraid of people, very friendly and he's

Synopsis

Anna Faris is Ally, a young Bostonian with a bad relationship track record. Weeks before her sister is to wed she reads an article that suggests the number of sex partners a woman has had will predict her romantic success later in life. More than 20, it says, and you have virtually no hope of settling down. She realizes she's in the danger zone. To not go over 20 she revisits all her ex-boyfriends in hopes of finding a husband.

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

It's all in the numbers

► Anna Faris shines as the lead in What's Your Number? despite a lacklustre raunch-com script ► Movie's attitudes about sex a little dated for 2011

Richard: Mark, I'm not going to suggest What's Your Number? is a great, or even good movie. It has a typical rom-com plot gussied up with some Judd Apatow style barbs and some gratuitous shots of its almost naked star but it also has Anna Faris, and for me that's enough. She has crack comic timing and an unpredictable way with a line that takes a Kathryn Heigl level script and turns it into something watchable. What did you think?

Mark: Without Anna Faris, this movie would have gone directly to the DVD bin. She's so good I was able to sit through the movie and actually laugh a few times. But I resent the movie for wanting it both ways: on the surface it seems like a raunch-com but underneath beats the heart of the typical story of a young woman who just wants to get married and settle down. And by the way, since when did bedding 20 guys in your entire life make anyone a slut? Maybe if they were all at once...

RC: Ha! Spoken like someone who has the updated edition of The Joy of Sex handy. It's a strange movie that uses both the standard old cellphone switcheroo plot device and rape jokes. It doesn't have the laughs of an Apatow movie or the heart... but once again, I'll say it, it has Anna Faris.

MB: It also has Chris Evans, in a stock role that only his agent could love. But I did feel there was some genuine chemistry between him and Ms. Faris, especially in the scenes where they get hot 'n' sweaty. Romantic comedies like this one usually have a number of well acted, well written secondary characters, but they were completely absent from this picture, unless you count Andy Samberg's great and ridiculous cameo.

RC: A love scene with a puppet and Andy Samberg is just one of the things — did I mention Anna Faris? — that make this movie almost special. There are just enough funny scenes (and shots of Evans's abs) to almost make this an in-the-pocket rom com, but then the good stuff is followed by long stretches of by-the-book writing. It's a shame to see this kind of potential wasted.

MB: I also resented the dated sexual politics of the movie. The male lead can sleep with as many partners as he likes and he's a rake. If a woman like Faris tries the same thing, she's a slut. This is old-school thinking, and shame on the movie for buying into it, and not challenging it.

Cancer is no laughing matter, everyone knows that. But 50/50, the story of Adam (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) a clean living guy diagnosed with a rare form of cancer, breaks taboos left and right. Luckily it's tempered with great performances, a smart script and real emotion. There's not a false moment thanks to a script written by Will Reiser, the real-life inspiration for the story. Reiser — along with actors Gordon-Levitt, Anna Kendrick and Seth Rogen — find just the right balance between mortality, romance and cancer jokes in a script that will have you laughing and crying at the same time.

The drama of politics

► Film veteran Jeffrey Wright brings his inside knowledge of Washington to Ides of March
► Finds perks of politics alluring

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

For Ides of March, his political drama about a fictional Democratic presidential primary race, director and star George Clooney put together a stellar cast. And when it came to casting the role of Sen. Thompson, a primary rival of Gov. Morris (Clooney) whose endorsement could mean a nomination-clinching collection of delegates, Clooney knew just who to go to: film and stage veteran Jeffrey Wright. A Washington, D.C., native, Wright relished tackling the more corrupt side of politics shown in the film. But he won't squeal when it comes to what real-life politicians he based his character on.

Your character provides a very particular commentary on politics.

Yeah, you know, I imagine the character could be perceived as having the best interests of his constituent cy at heart, but I read the script with just a touch of healthy cynicism, and I perceived him to be pretty much an egoist and an opportunist, which I have to say I have witnessed in some of the players down in Washington in my experiences down there — not all. There's a dynamic at work there among not only the politicians but among those who surround them, a desire to be out front, to be in a position of authority — or at least in close proximity to power — that overshadows too often, I think, the desire to do good work.

It's hard not to be at least a little cynical about politics, especially considering current events.

Yeah. Sure, sure. I mean, at the end of the day you see folks just losing sight of what the point is. The point is to lead the country in the best way forward for as many people as possible. But it's so alluring. It must be just incredibly seductive and alluring, the lifestyle and the influence and the access and the perks.

► Hugh Jackman says that he was a fearful child.

Hugh not always so steely

► Hugh Jackman, star of Real Steel, says he was the dunce at drama school

SCENE@METRONWS.CA

Hugh Jackman must be the envy of his drama school's graduating class. Between the opening of Real Steel this weekend and the end of 2013 he'll star in six films ranging from The Wolverine's high octane action and the high notes of Les Misérables to the high comedy of Movie 43.

It seems apt that he'll also soon be starring in The Greatest Showman on Earth because he can do it all — in between action movies he can out-sing-and-dance anyone on the circuit — but it wasn't always that way.

"When I started acting I was the dunce of the class," he says.

Success in school, he says, came because of his work ethic, a trait he picked up from his father.

"He never took one day off in his life," he says. "Now, he had five kids he was bringing up on his own. If anyone deserved a day off it was my old man, but he never did. I learned that from him."

"There's always that feeling of, 'I have to work harder than everybody else. I'm not born Phillip Seymour Hoffman. I've got to just work harder and I'm prepared to do it."

Being the youngest of five children also contributed to his outlook. "I always wanted to do stuff and not be left out," he says, but adds, "I was quite a fearful kid, which I hated."

"I've always had a fear of fear. It's a weird to think back now but drama school, it is a pressure kind of situation. People get kicked out of drama school. You are constantly being judged on how you are doing, are you progressing, are you not."

"Almost everyday you had to get up and do a monologue. Sing a song. Do it in front of everybody."

"I noticed I was always first. I never wanted to sit there waiting."

"I'm not saying that out of courage. It was too uncomfortable to sit, stewing. I don't think I've told anyone else that."

Later, fear of unemployment pushed him to expand his talents.

"When I came out of drama school I was like, 'I'm going to do anything I can just to keep working.' In drama school you do Shakespeare to movement to circus skills to singing all in one morning. I know a lot of people hated it but I reveled in it. I loved it. It's weird how it evolved."

Toe-to-toe with Sugar Ray

NED EHRBAR

SCENE@METRONWS.CA

METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

For Real Steel, boxing legend Sugar Ray Leonard was tasked with both choreographing big robot-on-robot boxing matches and training Hugh Jackman to play a convincing trainer and former boxer.

But we at Metro thought he could use a real challenge: critiquing my boxing abilities. Leonard was a great sport about it. As for me? Well...

Sugar Ray Leonard: What's your best punch?

Ned Ehrbar: Um...

SRL: Show me your guard. [Ned stands up, puts up his fists.] You're a southpaw?

NE: No, I'm right-handed. [Ned switches position.]

SRL: Stand your regular way. OK, OK. Now jab. [Ned punches.] No, jab. [Ned punches again.] That's your right hand. You're supposed to jab with your left.

hand. Sugar Ray laughs.]

SRL: When I say jab, I don't want you to do this. [punches slowly] If you did that to me, I'd see it coming a mile away. I had time to go to the bathroom before that punch lands.

It's like this. [Sugar Ray throws a quick succession of jabs.] Speed is relaxing. Speed is like... [Sugar Ray hits Ned in the gut three times.]

That's the key. It's having the ability to relax and just let your hands go. I mean, naturally you're a big, strong guy...

NE: Well, I'm big.

SRL: Right. [laughs] Power comes from speed, you know what I mean? But you? You're OK. But don't overthink it. It's like, visualize sneaking up on someone. That's the movement. But then you have to keep working at it and keep working at it until it becomes natural.

That's where the power comes in. I don't want to overwork you and tell you too much, but the key is balance and relaxing. You've got pretty good form, but your intentions are too tight. You've got to loosen up.

Like you and many other people, I too struggled with my weight. I have spent the past 15 years losing the diet battle and each time felt like I failed and let myself and my family down. The decision did not come easy as I felt my family and friends would be quick to judge, however after two years of doing research and speaking with a number of surgeons I decided to have Gastric Surgery.

Due to my personal experience and knowledge, along with having the best Surgical Teams in Canada, U.S.A and Mexico, I have started Weight Loss & Beyond, Edmonton's Newest Full Service Surgical Weight Loss Consulting Company.

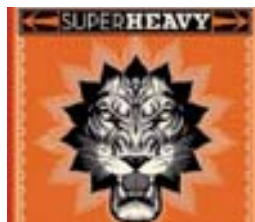

Weight Loss & Beyond believes that each and every Client comes first. This program has been designed from personal experiences of our clients, medical and nutritional professionals. Unlike other weight loss consulting companies Weight Loss & Beyond is able to offer full support to all Gastric Surgery patients, as we feel that support is truly the most important aspect of your journey. It is our goal to guide you to create and discover a healthier "New You."

Jagger gets off his cloud

► Frontman takes a break from Stones and an artistic risk with all-star group

Mick Jagger and Eurythmics founder Dave Stewart acknowledge that they took a gamble when they decided to form their all-star band, SuperHeavy. They had no idea if all the group's members, which include soulful singer-songwriter Joss Stone, Oscar-winning composer A.R. Rahman and reggae singer Damian Marley, would even have chemistry.

"We were just making music and if we didn't like it, we wouldn't use it," Stewart said. "We just did it because we wanted to do an experiment, and that got developed and more and more developed until in the end, this record appeared."

The result is a 12-track, self-titled album with a sound the group's members say cannot be placed into any specific genre. Jagger's legend was formed with the Rolling Stones and other successful musical collaborations, but he says none of that can be compared to his experience with SuperHeavy.

"Every time you get into a room even with the same people, it is different be-

COMING UP WITH A BAND NAME IS NO EASY TASK

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONWS.CA

One of the most hideous tasks of being in a band is coming up with a name.

Consider:

1. Everyone in the band has to be happy with it. Good luck with that.

Many baby bands have broken up because they couldn't agree on what to call themselves. Finding that consensus is torturous.

2. It has to be catchy, easy to remember and easy to spell. Your name is your brand, so it has to be something that captures the essence of the group's sound and image without sounding too stupid or pretentious.

3. Can you get the domain name? Before the Internet, this never used to be a problem. But if you're going to have a proper online presence, you need a proper

Internet address. Oasis had to make due with Oasisinet.com (notice the extra "i" because a dating site already had Oasis.com and wasn't about to give it up.)

4. It must lend itself to good graphic design. Hey, if you can't make a cool logo from it, then you're limiting your appeal. Nine Inch Nails, Linkin Park, Led Zeppelin and the lips-and-tongue logo of the Rolling Stones are all brilliant examples.

5. And, most importantly, it has to be unique and unused by anyone anywhere in the world currently or in the past.

cause people come up with different things. It was a really interesting collaboration. To be honest it was easy. It was really easy because we got things straight away. You are very soon encouraged," he said.

Jagger, Stewart, Stone and Rahman recently sat down for an interview with The Associated Press.

What were you looking for in picking members of this group?

Jagger: One thing serious that we did think about, we didn't want people with loads of entourages and that would have too big of egos. ... It is very quickly how human beings sort of adjust to each other's temperaments and creativity. It is just like being in a cocktail party with a group of people. Either the cocktail party is going to go well or it doesn't. It depends on the vibe.

Rahman: I don't know why they called me, first of all. I thought maybe they wanted my piano playing or my keyboard, or a string arrangement.

Musically, you were all pushed, working outside of your usual genres. Mick, you rapped?

Jagger: I was just copying Damian. I do a little bit. I went toasting, we call it, but it is the same thing (as rap).

Damian was doing this really good toasting, West Indian rapping, so I thought, "I could do that. It can't be that difficult." It actually was quite difficult. With a bit of practice, it is all right. It is a laugh.

Stone: It is funny. Sometimes listening to Damian talk would give me a melody. ... It helped when I couldn't come up with anything, I would just listen to Damian and have a little chat in the corner.

What was that first recording session like, getting all of these people together with different sounds from different backgrounds?

Stewart: What is unusual is having five writers who are songwriters, known for songwriting, all writing in the same room together at the same time. Writers are often known to be on their own, looking at the sea, out the window, with a pen or playing piano on their own. Then you have five people all staring at each other that are all used to writing songs, but that have to do it in front of each other now.

Kadooh: Big Bird. Cam: Humpty Dumpty. That'd be a great omelette. Or Colonel Sanders. I could go for some chicken.

What's your greatest fear?

Kadooh: Erectile dysfunction. I'm going with that. Cam: Not a lot of fears, per se, 'cause everything's just kind of a risk in life, and I guess if you don't try it you're not gonna learn what not to do and what not to try. But I guess losing a loved one is my biggest fear.

What's your idea of a perfect day?

Cam: Somewhere on tour in front of a lot of fans, playing a great show and having everyone singing back at you. Just having a good time — sitting back with the band and having some

Where do you find inspiration?

Kadooh: Day-to-day life and people along the way. Cam: Fans coming up to you after shows and saying that a particular song really meant something to them.

What's the last thing you say to yourself before a show?

Cam: Too late now! Kadooh: Good luck.

Your last meal — what is it?

Cam: Chocolate. Everything chocolate. Chocolate cake, chocolate ice cream ... 'cause at that point, the intolerance doesn't matter.

Is Demi headed back to real-life Cougar Town?

► Reports say Demi Moore and Ashton Kutcher's marriage is almost done

The marriage between Demi Moore and Ashton Kutcher is reportedly all but over, with just a potential $290 million divorce battle standing in their way, according to Star magazine.

Kutcher's alleged frolicking in San Diego last weekend — during their sixth anniversary — was apparently the last straw.

"Ashton was a serial cheater, and Demi just couldn't take it anymore. She didn't deserve to live that way. It's a painful time for Demi," a source says.

"It was definitely a long time coming, but they're finally done for good."

And if the couple's recent trip to New York was any indication, the split has been in the works.

"As far as I know, Demi ended up staying at her place on the Upper West Side and Ashton was (at the hotel) by himself," a source says.

"It was obvious to everyone around them that things were completely over between them and that they are just putting on a show until they officially split." ● METRO

Scarlett Johansson is still fuming over the phone hacking that led to nude pictures of the Avengers star being leaked online.

"Just because you're an actor or make films or whatever, doesn't mean you're not entitled to your own personal privacy," she tells CNN.

"If that is sieged in some way, it feels unjust. It feels wrong."

Johansson isn't necessarily complaining about her fame, but she thinks there are limits.

"It's an adjustment, but I think there are certain instances where you give a lot of yourself and finally you have to kind of put your foot down and say, 'Oh wait, I'm taking it back,'" she says.

If you love wine and have never been to Spain, you need to pack your corkscrew and go. I raved earlier this year after my first visit, but I can't stop.

Wine to the Spaniards is like beer to us Canadians — especially in region of Rioja. You hit town with your peeps, pick a local wine bar, have a glass of red along with a little tapas, move on the next spot and repeat.

You can recreate the vibe at home. The internet has dozens of sites dedicated to tapas recipes and Rioja wines are easy to find.

The Montecillo 2008 Crianza ($14.95 - $19.99) is a perfect introduction. Aged over two years, the juice is fresh and lively with a well-balanced cherry fruit and cedar-esque wood expression. It's a perfect partner for croquettes and empanadas. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Egg Salad Creatures

Make silly creatures or faces with a mound of egg salad and some imagination. Use whatever edibles you have growing in the garden or extras in the fridge to fashion sprout hair, olive eyes, pickle noses and maybe even a cucumber moustache.

Set out garnishes and let the kids get creative by making their own variations.

Creature Garnish

Here are decoration ideas:

- Hair
Grated or string cheese, grated carrots, sprouts or curly lettuce
- Eyes
Olives, cucumber, pickle slices or raisins
- Nose
Slice of gherkin, pickle, pieces of carrot
- Mouth
Wedge of cherry tomato, carrot or celery stick
- Ears
Sliced cucumber or tomato
- Whiskers or antennae
Carrot or celery sticks or sweet pepper strips

► Make two creatures with this recipe.

Preparation:

- 1 Peel and finely chop hard-cooked eggs and place mixing bowl. Add mayonnaise, mustard, and salt; stir gently together until combined.

- 2 Mound egg salad in two round scoops on plates.

- 3 Using pieces of vegetables, cheese, olives, pickles, etc., make features or body parts, create silly creatures or faces. (To make creature and face in photo, use cucumber slices for ears or body scales; wedge of cherry tomato for mouth; pieces of carrot for whiskers or tail; piece of string cheese for hair; raisins and sliced gherkins or olives for eyes; and cherry tomato or piece of cucumber for nose.) Serve with crackers.

Eskis trying to get on course

► First game at newly renovated BC Place Stadium ► Edmonton coach Kavis Reed says team won't be distracted by the hoopla ► Lions won last matchup at Commonwealth Stadium 36-1

JOHN ULAN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

► Time: 8:30 p.m.
TV: TSN

The Edmonton Eskimos would love to spoil the party.

Beating the B.C. Lions in Friday's opening CFL game at the newly renovated BC Place Stadium would be a perfect way for the Eskimos to steer themselves back on course, says quarterback Ricky Ray.

"We have one goal here," Ray said Thursday after the Eskimos became the first team to drop their gear in the new visitors dressing room. "It's not to come and check out the new stadium and see how the roof opens and closes.

"Our goal is to come here and win."

Outspoken Lions nickel back Korey Banks said it makes sense that the Eskimos want to play spoiler.

"We are the underdogs," Banks said with a straight face. "We are only 6-6.

"It's going to be an upset if we beat them. We're not the team to beat."

The Lions and Eskimos are teams headed in opposite directions.

B.C. started the season 0-5 but have won five straight games and six of their last seven to improve to 6-6.

A stifling Lions defence has allowed no touchdowns in four of the last five games and the offence has outscored the opposition 208-88 over the last seven matches.

Quarterback Travis Lulay

said the Lions have lost the element of surprise.

"I don't think we can sneak up on anybody," said Lulay, who has thrown for 1,404 yards in his last five games.

"Teams are aware of what we've done lately. We expect a great effort from these guys. It's a game that is as important to them as it is to us. They don't really care we are in a new stadium."

The Eskimos were the talk of the league when they started the season 5-0 but since then have been 2-5. They were beaten 36-1 at Commonwealth Stadium the last time they played B.C.

"We've gone through our ups and downs," said Ray. "We have been a little inconsistent."

Edmonton starts the weekend tied with Calgary for first place in the West with a 7-5 record. By Sunday the Eskimos could slip to third.

A Lions win combined with a Calgary loss to Saskatchewan on Saturday would leave B.C. with a share of first place.

the firing of B.C. Lions head coach/GM Wally Buono, who could have imagined that those same Leos would transform into the league's hottest team with five straight wins?

Fire Buono? Suddenly he's a candidate for coach of the year.

B.C. (6-6) has moved within two points of a first-place tie with Calgary and Edmonton in the West with four of their last six games against division rivals.

The Lions should enjoy an added boost with their return to renovated BC Place stadium on Friday night against Edmonton in a West Division showdown. The Lions have four games down the stretch at the refurbished facility and the way things have gone, don't be surprised if they're back on the same field for the Grey Cup game Nov. 27.

Maritime miscalculation: In Atlantic Canada there is serious interest in someday bringing a CFL team to Moncton, N.B. Yet despite the enthusiasm, the second Touchdown Atlantic game last weekend was a bit of an embarrassment for the league.

While everyone involved deserves praise for staging the event, a professional football game in a stadium that barely holds 20,000 fans is hardly befitting of a league always battling to be viewed as the "big time." Meanwhile, a franchise for the Maritimes seems light years away.

Goltz to be kidding:

It seems karma has caught up with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. After blasting out of the gate at 7-1 and berating opponents, media and fans league-wide for "disrespecting" them, everything's going wrong.

The greatest worry has been the health of starting QB Buck Pierce. Now Pierce is hampered by injured ribs, backup Alex Brink is struggling with a shoulder injury and third-stringer Justin Goltz is, well, a third-string quarterback nobody's ever heard of.

Goltz went 3-of-6 for 36 yards in last weekend's loss to the Argos. You can pretty much write off the season if the Bombers have to rely on his play.

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 You won't find it hard to persuade those you live and work with to see things your way today.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 You must be careful today about taking on new duties and responsibilities.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 This is by any standards one of the very best times of the year for you. Be first and be the best.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 The problem you'll be confronted with today is one you've dealt with before. Learn from the past.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23 Today's Sun-Mars link could herald the start of a new and exciting phase romantically. Be passionate!

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 You seem to have a secret admirer. This can be turned to your advantage.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 The challenges ahead of you may be daunting but you will come through them all with ease.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Today, you will be happier working behind the scenes than getting up in front of lots of people.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Get together with people who share your aims and ideals to start putting your big ideas into action.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 The more you assert yourself, the more others will assume it is the natural way of things.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Today, at home and at work, you will shine like never before.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 You may be tempted to own up to an indiscretion, but is it the best decision? SALLY BROMPTON
